Providence College Ruane Center of the Humanities Project Overview

Project Highlights:

Providence College (PC) constructed a new 63,000 square foot facility to house their Western Civilization studies classes that reflected the quality of the faculty and the programs PC has to offer. They also wanted the design of the space to invite collaboration with students and be able to have multiple usages for functions for students and faculty to use. Vendor partners used were Bentley Carpeting, Roppe, Altro, Johnsonite, Mapei and Mannington. The Bentley Carpeting accentuate the Gothic theme of the building while still inviting students to read, collaborate, and study in the Great Room, and all adjoining lecture and classrooms. The 240 steps in the stairways were trimmed with Roppe rubber stair treads and matching rubber tile. All products used for the Providence College Ruane Center of the Humanities project were smart sustainable products. The Gothic architecture encourages natural light. All flooring products, setting materials and adhesives used were USGB approved products with low emitting gases. Bentley

Oscar-worthy carpeting contributed heavily to achieving the LEED certification. The carpeting consisted of about 4,000 yards of 12.07% post consumer and .76% pre-consumer recycled content. All the carpeting was CRI green label with NSF-140 approval.

This is a 2014 Starnet Worldwide Commercial Flooring Design Award entry.
